A young couple near Chicago eloped to the home of a county magistrate to be married and found him pulling broom corn in the absence of farm help. He married them but made them help pull the corn in payment of his fee, which reminds us of a broom sent as a wedding gift to a bride with this verse:

"Believe me, dear friend, with all my heart,
This trifling gift I send,
In sunshine use the bushy part
In storms the other end."

LUCIAN DAVIS

Appointed to the Position of Master Commissioner.

The place of Master Commissioner made vacant by the recent resignation of John B. Chilton was filled yesterday by Judge Hanbery by the appointment of Lucian H. Davis. Mr. Davis is splendidly qualified for the place. He has filled many important positions, including that of Councilman for eight years, city clerk, and treasurer of the Western Asylum, which position he now holds. He is also at the head of the real estate department of the Bank of Hopkinsville and has other extreme business interests. His appointment will give general satisfaction.

BROKE RECORD

Championship Games Netted
Nearly Half Million.

Boston, Oct. 18.—The total paid attendance for the series of eight games was 252,037.

The total receipts were $450,833. Each club's share was $147,028.80. The National Commission's share $49,083.30.

The total players share, derived from the first four games only was $147,471.69.

Of this share the Boston players, as winners, shared 60 per cent, or $88,543.01.

The New York players, as losers shared $59,028.69.

Each Red Sox player, of whom 22 were eligible, received $4,024.63.

Each Giant player, of whom 23 were eligible, received $2,566.63.

The figures in every case are greater than those of any previous world's series.

BURGLARS

Stole $40 From Luckett O'Nan
Saturday Night.

The store of Luckett O'Nan, between here and the Western Hospital, was entered Saturday night by burglars. They got into the cash drawer and appropriated the contents, about $40 in cash. With that they seemed satisfied as Mr. O'Nan did not miss any of his goods when he discovered what had been done Sunday morning. There is no clue as to who the burglars are.

SIXTY-SIX PEOPLE HURT
BUT NOBODY WAS KILLED

Miraculous Escape of Nearly 200 Passengers
On an Illinois Central Train Near
This City.

EXCURSION TRAIN WRECKED SUNDAY

Was Enroute To Paducah With Woodmen and Their Families.

A LIST OF THOSE WHO WERE INJURED

An excursion train on the I. C. railroad which left this city at 7:30 Sunday morning for Paducah was wrecked a few minutes later upon reaching Green's station five miles from town. A broken rail gave way while the train, consisting of a baggage car and four coaches, was going slowly to allow the conductor to take up the tickets before the first stop. All except the baggage car left the track and turned over into a ravine on the south side of the track, the embankment being about ten feet at that point.

The four coaches contained 179 passengers and it seems almost a miracle that many were not killed. As it was sixty-five people were more or less injured, a dozen or more so seriously as to be disabled.

Those hurt were the following:

Hopkinsville People

Dock Claxton, internal injuries.
Capt. E. W. Clark, two ribs fractured.

Claude R. Clark, cut on ankle and bruises.

Geo. M. Clark, contusion of left shoulder.

J. F. Clark, back sprained and bruised.

Mrs. J. F. Clark, right arm bruised.

P. A. Carpenter, finger dislocated and chest bruised.

W. M. Criss, cut on head and back injured.

L. R. Crawley, bruise on head, elbow and left side.

Dr. E. N. Fruit, nose broken, three teeth knocked out and cuts about head and face.

Mrs. E. N. Fruit, left hip bruised.

H. M. Gardner, hip hurt.

D. D. Hord, broken rib and ankle sprained.

Gaither Henderson, back wrenched.

O. C. Kinsolving, leg bruised.

Lonnie Lawrence, thumb mashed.

T. D. McGee, arm hurt.

Policeman M. W. Merritt, back wrenched, shoulder sprained and cut on right wrist.

George Morris, bruises.

A. D. Meacham, face bruised.

Sam Norman, hip bruised.

W. E. Pace, hip dislocated, cuts over left eye and on ankle.

W. C. Pendergast, shoulder dislocated, head cut and hip injured.

G. T. Powell, rib broken.

Mrs. W. E. Williamson, back bruised.

Mrs. O. C. Kinsolving, severe bruises.

H. W. Wells, cut on head.

Mrs. Essie Clark, shoulders bruised.

Others Injured.

Bud Akin, Adairville, left leg broken.

T. A. Adcock, Pee Dee, chest bruised.

Oscar Bates, Kelly, wrist broken.

Harvey Bates, Kelly, cut on head and bruises.

Bailey Boren, Olmstead, Ky., left hand cut, finger mashed, leg and ankle sprained.

Clifton Boyd, Kelly, face cut.

Wesley Brake, Kelly, eye injured.

Urey Cornelius, Bainbridge, cut on head and shoulder dislocated.

Mrs. Urey Cornelius, bruises on leg and arm.

Ed Daniels, Olmstead, Ky., cuts on knee and hand.

Harry Edwards, county, left foot cut.

Jas. Foster, Kelly, cuts and bruises.

Bud Foster, Kelly, cuts and bruises.

W. Gamble, Honey Grove.

Ewell P. Harned, Honey Grove, three ribs broken and shoulder hurt.

Walton Harned, Honey Grove, hip cut.

Geo. Harned, Honey Grove, lower end of backbone fractured.

Richard Morris, Kelly, gash in head and arm hurt.

Lon McCormick, Olmstead, left hand cut.

Geo. W. Russell, Jr., Olmstead, foot mashed, knee and hand cut.

Mrs. Sylvester Reese, Fairview, nervous shock.

L. M. Steele, Honey Grove, cut on face, knee and ankle.

Geo. W. Thomas, Olmstead, three fingers cut and knee bruised.

Henry Whitaker, Kelly, scalp wound.

Hugh Wood, Olmstead, knee hurt.

Walter Wood, Sinking Fork, fractured hip and head cut.

J. Whitescarver, Diamond Springs, scalp wound.

Tom Whitescarver, Diamond Springs, bruises.

Among those most seriously hurt are Mrs. John W. Twyman, Miss Lovey Ransome, Dr. E. N. Fruit, George Harned, Bud Akin, M. W. Merritt, Geo. W. Russell, Jr., W. E. Pace, Urey Cornelius and Walter Wood.

All of these excepting Mrs. Twyman, Miss Ransome and Dr. Fruit were taken from the depot to the Hopkinsville Infirmary. The others were taken directly to their homes.

The accident was due to a broken rail. Four coaches left the track and rolled over the embankment, three of them turning over and the other falling with one end in the ravine. The two front coaches were of steel and the front one was dragged on its side for fifty yards. The engine and baggage car did not leave the track.

When the cars turned over the passengers were thrown in a heap, those on the right side falling on top of those on the left seats. It seems a miracle that nobody was killed as the rear coaches were crowded, some of the people standing up. The cars even stood the crash well and were not badly injured. News of the wreck was at once telephoned to the city and several automobiles filled with physicians were hurried to the scene.

Agent T. L. Morrow acted with promptness and soon had an engine and car on the way with helpers. The injured people and other passengers were brought back to the city as quickly as possible and the injured attended to. There was a feeling of relief when it was learned that no one had been killed.

The train was in charge of Conductor John Maxwell. John Loftus was engineer and Tom Shaw flag man.

The excursion was made up largely of members of the local W. O. W. lodge and their families. Among those on board who escaped injury were:

Guy Wiles, wife and 2 children, Miss Ernestine Thacker, Mrs. C. R. Clark, W. E. Williamson, D. M. Booker and son, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Egin, J. U. Campbell, Mrs. D. D. Hord, Leslie Boxley, C. R. Maddux, W. G. Mitchell, Jasper Roper, Jas. Williams, J. E. Harned, Ed Harned, E. F. Dawson, L. Berry, L. F. Carpenter, H. P. Allen, Jno. L. Atkins, C. A. Cundiff, Wallace Layne and daughter, S. Reese, Geo. Flowers, E. C. Jefferson, L. S. Long, Sam Marlow, C. E. Ledford, W. E. Poor, C. E. Vaughan.

Feland Clark, who escaped with a few painful bruises, was standing in the door of one of the coaches when the accident occurred. He said:

"I felt the jolt of the train as it thumped on the ties and quickly realized that the car was turning. I called to those near me to grab and hold to seats and I held to the door. Several people were on top of me when we quit falling, but I crawled out thankful that no bones were broken. My wife was not much injured."

Leslie Boxley said: "It all happened so quickly that I didn't realize what it was until we were all piled over in a heap. I was not hurt and at once set to work to help those who were."

O. C. Kinsolving said: "I was sitting on the left side of the train with my wife. When the car turned over five people were piled on top of me, but my wife was between the seats and escaped injury. I was not much hurt and picked up Miss Ransome near me who was badly hurt. The ladies were screaming but I told them the trouble was over and to keep cool and let's rescue the injured. We were glad to find that all were alive."

The track was soon repaired and trains were soon running as usual. The excursion was of course abandoned. The Woodmen on board were going to attend a meeting of the Woodmen of three States at Paducah and the train was to return Sunday night.

PISTOL SHOT

Ends the Life of Leslie Thompson
At Paducah.

Paducah, Ky., Oct. 18.—When his employer, James K. Hooser, walked into his tailor shop yesterday afternoon, Leslie J. Thompson, his cutter, pulled a pistol from his pocket and shot himself dead. Thompson was a popular lodge man and the tragedy caused a sensation. He left no note of explanation, but rumors are rife that he was involved financially. The deceased was about 45 years old, and is survived by his wife and two children. He held the office of esquire in the Paducah Lodge of Elks. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide.

COUNTY FAIR

Committee To Solicit Stock
Held Meeting Saturday.

The committee appointed two weeks ago to solicit subscriptions to the Pennyroyal Fair held a meeting Saturday morning at the office of the B. M. A.

The chairman of the committee and the secretary were absent from the city. Mr. R. E. Cooper was made chairman pro tem and R. L. Castleberry secretary.

There is no doubt as to the probability of the stock being subscribed and the committee is deeply in earnest. Taken altogether it is a body of enthusiastic men and they all expressed a desire to push the matter of securing subscriptions at once. A committee, consisting of R. E. Cooper, W. A. Wilgus and R. H. McGaughey, was appointed to have printed at once a six, or eight-page folder giving the plan of organization, the county's need of a fair and all other information that may be necessary to enlist the support of all people in the city and county. These are busy times and few men have time to enter into details when they approach a man to ask him to subscribe stock for anything. Hence the folders. The committee will attend to the matter at once.

Every man at the meeting had something to say and the outlook was more than encouraging—it was inspiring and the work of this week will count for good.

The committee meets next Saturday morning at the B. M. A. office at 10 o'clock.

COLD WAVE

With Snow In Northern Districts Last of Week.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 20.—Fair weather will prevail over much of the country during the next few days.

The next general storm to cross the country will appear in the far West about Thursday, prevail over the Middle West Friday or Saturday and the Eastern States at the end of the week. This disturbance will be preceded by rising temperatures; be attended by rain on the Pacific coast and in the Southern States and by rains and snows in the northern districts. It will be followed by a change to the coldest weather of the season, the cold wave making its appearance in the Northwest Saturday or Sunday.

Negro Pugilist Not Killed.

The report current here Saturday that Jack Johnson had been killed by the mother of a white girl he had installed in his house as his mistress was unfortunately not true. The only foundation for the rumor was that a man hurled a big inkstand at Johnson as he sat in an automobile under his window in Chicago, and inkstand narrowly missing his head.

SPEAKING.

Almost A Miracle.

One of the most startling changes ever seen in any man, according to W. B. Holsclaw, Clarendon, Tex., was effected years ago in his brother.
"He had such a dreadful cough,"
he writes, "that all our family thought he was going into consumption, but he began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, and was completely cured by ten bottles. Now he is sound and well and weighs 218 lbs.
For many years our family has used this wonderful remedy for Coughs and Colds with excellent results."
It's quick, safe, reliable and guaranteed. Price 50 cents and $1.00.

Rosy As A Girl

Summit, N. C.—In a letter received from this place, Mr. J. W. Church the notary public, says: "My wife had been ailing for nearly 12 years, from female ailments, and at times, was unable to leave the house. She suffered agony with her side and back. We tried physicians for years without relief. After these treatments all failed, she took Cardui, and gained in weight at once. Now she is red and rosy as a school girl."
Cardui, as a tonic for women, has brought remarkable results. It relieves pain and misery and is the ideal tonic for young and old. Try

PECULIAR ENGLISH CANAL.

Between Worsley and St. Helena, in the north of England, is the most remarkable canal in the world. It is underground, from end to end, and is sixteen miles long. In Lancashire the coal mines are very extensive, half the country being undermined, and many years ago the duke of Bridgewater's managers thought they could save money by transporting the coal underground instead of on the surface. The canal was constructed and the mines connected and drained at the same time. Ordinary canal boats are used, but the power is furnished by men.
On the roof of the tunnel arch are cross pieces, and the men do the work of propulsion by lying on their backs on the coal and pushing with their feet against the crossbars on the roof.

days ago at Bloomfield, N. J., the workmen came upon the skeleton of was in the pond at the time of the filling and that the turtles consumed

ENOUGH TO GET MARRIED ON

Blushing Bride Endowed Hubby With Her World's Goods, Consisting of One Lunch Basket.

A well-known multimillionaire has recently gone in rather heavily for charity.

"But I don't believe in promiscuous charity, which pauperizes," he said to a New York correspondent. "That sort of charity always makes me think of Aunt Sallie Higgins of my native town."

"Aunt Sallie came to the town's Lady Bountiful one day and asked for the loan of a dollar."

"What do you want a dollar for, Aunt Sallie?" the Lady Bountiful inquired.

"Please, ma'am," said Aunt Sallie, "I'm goin' to git married."

"If your man hasn't even a dollar to pay for the marriage license, how will the pair of you get along?"

"Well, ma'am," said Aunt Sallie, "tomorrow's your birthday, and we're both comin' to your picnic in the birch woods. You always give us somethin' to take home from your birthday picnic, and the day after there's your usual free basket distribution for the unemployed. That'll keep us a week easy, and by that time Joe and me'll be on our feet mebbe."—Exchange.

EXCITEMENT TO BE AVOIDED

Correspondent of Federal Department Gave Fair Warning of His Frail Physical Condition.

The departments in Washington receive some queer letters. Below is given verbatim a letter received last November by the bureau that has charge of the bonds of mail contractors from a man who wished to get off a bond. It is unique. The last sentence contains a valuable suggestion to others who dislike to receive disagreeable news, especially on business matters. The letter tells how he signed the bond merely to oblige a friend and then continues with this personal history:

"I Risk My life to go to the lection this fall. I have Done all I can for you office Men at the White house. So I Wood like if you office Men Wood git me out of trouble so I cod Rest i haint Work one Day for 13 years on count of Palpitation of the Heart Some times I cant bare the clock Strike So you no My heart is Weak you office Men Do all you can to git Mee out of trouble. if they had told Mee the letten Was 4 year I Never Wood Sind the bond I thought it Was 1 year So I was told when you Rite Dont Rite any thing that Will excite Mee it Will Fly to My Heart."—Kansas City Star.

SUSPICION WAS JUSTIFIED.

A Missouri lawyer, who at an early age acquired a taste for milk and not so many years later learned that the addition of a "jigger" of booze made a drink really more to his liking, has not outgrown his fondness for milk punch, even though his wife is a loyal churchwoman and member of the W. C. T. U. and permits no intoxicants on the sideboard.

That she may not know of his occasional libations, the attorney always kept a package of "breath improvers" in his desk and after indulging in his favorite drink he never neglected to supplant the telltale odor with the spiced cachous.

One evening as he sat on the veranda of his home, having just arrived from down town after a very laborious day at the office, his wife approached him and, noting the familiar perfume, said tremulously:

"Robert, dear, I want you to quit using those lozenges. I'm afraid they have whiskey in them."

Robert solemnly promised and now pins his faith in aromatic chewing gum.—Kansas City Journal.

"MOVIES" IN VATICAN.

The austerities of the Vatican have been so far relaxed, it is reported, as to allow the introduction of a moving picture machine into that papal "prison," and the pope, for the first time in his life, has enjoyed the diversion of seeing the moving films. Views of his old home, Venice, were particularly appreciated.

HOW IT WAS.

"They say Alice would not promise to marry Charles unless he told her that the girl he married would receive a limousine for a wedding gift."

"Then their engagement was accomplished through auto-suggestion," commented the friend.

EFFECT OF DAYLIGHT LAMP

Perfection of Invention Really Seems to Mean an Overturning of Laws of Nature.

Science has demonstrated its ability to reproduce daylight. By utilizing the curve of the spectrum and getting the actual hues that belong to it in the lamp that is the development of the experiments of scientists, the effects of daylight are almost perfectly produced. Thus it will be possible to light art galleries at night with daylight effects, and to produce daylight for any kind of night events, as well as to produce daylight for home weddings and the like, when the outside light is rejected in order to obtain exclusion and softer tones.

The entire range of possibilities of the daylight lamp may not be gleaned from the meager information that has as yet been derived from the successful experiments. The outcome of the efforts to see daylight in the dark is not the last word in illumination. The time is rapidly approaching when the diffusion of daylight artificially will be a commonplace, and the outside, as well as inside, of domiciles will be made at night to resemble day.

These advances will bring about the widest industrial and social changes, and the sleeping and waking hours will not correspond nearly so closely then as now to the present daylight and dark hours.

PERORATION THAT FELL FLAT

One Auditor Evidently Out of Place at Meeting of Woman's Temperance Society.

Representative William C. Redfield of New York relates this anecdote:

"I once attended a lecture by one of the best-known woman temperance lecturers in the country. She made one of the most thrilling speeches I have ever heard. She painted purgatory in a haze of red, and had us all going."

"Finally she pointed to a specimen she had on the platform with her."

"Ladies and gentlemen, look!" she said, and we looked.

"One week ago I found this man sleeping, a drunken wreck of a human being, in the gutters of your city. He was covered with dirt; his face, hands and clothing were filthy. He was a total and absolute wreck."

"Did I let him lie there?" she continued. "No, I helped him to his feet, brushed him off, smoothed his brow, and then, dear ladies and gentlemen, I kissed him full upon his mouth."

"At this juncture," said Mr. Redfield, "some person in the back of the room called out:

"Well, why don't you let him go? Ain't he been punished enough?"—New York Weekly.

STATE-AIDED ATHLETES.

Sweden is the only country in which the practice of athletics among adults is state aided. The Swedish National Union of Athletes has, since its foundation, received an annual subsidy of 20,000 crowns ($5,400) from the government. The union bestows gold, silver and bronze badges on all who attain a certain standard in athletics. In order to encourage the continuance of training in later life these badges are bestowed according to age as well as proficiency. The gold badge can be secured only by men over thirty-two, who can swim 200 meters, take a long jump of 5 meters, put the weight 16 meters, and run 10 kilometers in 50 minutes. This performance has to be repeated annually in order to retain the badge.

PLEA FOR A LARGER NAVY.

"Do you think," asked the old-fashioned lady, "that we ought to have two more battle ships?"

"I do, most emphatically," replied the fair Moosette. "I was at Old Point Comfort for three weeks last spring and there were not half enough battleships there to furnish lieutenants for the ladies who wanted to dance."

HAPPY DAYS.

"How do you manage with your wife away?"

"Don't have to manage; do as I like."—Tatler.

EXPLAINING IT.

"Nomads seem so enthusiastic about their way of living."

"Of course. Aren't their lives in tents?"

THREE THINGS YOU NEED..

First—

"Kentuckian"

A virile, newsworthy newspaper with the interest of the entire community at heart. Issues of the day are handled without fear or favor. You will find in this paper an up-to-date department for each member of the family. Clean, honest, straightforward—it is a paper your family should not be without.

Second—

Technical World Magazine

is the one magazine that not only entertains in a fascinating manner, but which also instructs. It is the magazine for the busy business man, or for the person who wants to lull away a summer's afternoon, and be agreeably informed at the same time. It is profusely illustrated, and tells in a simple and interesting way of the discoveries of scientists, the achievements of inventors, the feats of engineers and explorers, and the opening of every new field of human endeavor. What Jack London says—"I have just chanced upon my first copy of TECHNICAL WORLD MAGAZINE. There isn't anything like it. I want more, and I cannot wait for them to come, so I am sending you herewith check for which please enter my subscription and send me immediately the last two years' back numbers."

Third—

A Fine Atlas

This one is just off the presses. This is the year to obtain a new atlas. The 1910 Census has just been completed, this atlas contains the official figures. 128 pages of 2 color maps brought right down to date—every map giving the results of the most recent surveys. All railroads are shown and named and maps of all large cities are included. There are 21 double page maps showing in detail portions of the U. S. and Canada. Dimensions 10 1/2 x 13 1/2. Bound in stiff linen—Silver Leaf Title—printed on heavy plate paper. Sells regularly for $3.00. A splendid gift.

ALL THREE
Only $3.80

Special arrangement with Technical World Magazine and the publishers of this Atlas make this offer possible. But it is very strictly limited. You must act immediately.

THE FRESHY SEASON

BY APPY

Bring forth the callow Freshy, lads,
The season is at hand,
When breaking bones and grousing groans
Beside our fair young land.
Come, daily form the flying wedge
And start the college rush,
And tramp upon his tender tum
And muss his manly mush.

Altogether now:

Bite-his-eye! Bite-his-eye! Haw-haw-haw!
Chew-his-ear! Chew-his-ear! Chaw-chaw-chaw!

Kick 'im in the tum-tum,
Nick 'im on the knob,
Bing 'im in the think-tank,
Gaff 'im in the gob;

Biff 'im in the bread-bag, jab 'im in the jaw,
Beata Fresh, Eata Fresh, Raw! Raw! Raw!

Come, drag the fresh young rooster forth
And stand him on his ear;
His long neglected schooling must
Be started now and here
We'll pour molasses down his back
And rub his hair with glue,
And give him boiling tar to drink
And broken glass to chew.

Everybody sing:
Break-a-leg! Break-a-leg! Bow-wow-wow!
Bing-it-to-'im! Zing-it-to-'im! Zow-zow-zow!
Biff 'im in the midriff,
Mash 'im in the mug,
Bang 'im in the bean-bag,
Lam 'im in the lug;

Cap 'im on the co-coa, jolt 'im in the jaw,
Beata Fresh! Eata Fresh! Raw! Raw! Raw!

Come, sally forth, ye gallant Sophs,
And bung the Freshy's nose,
And walk upon his prostrate form
And gaily tear his clothes;
And romp upon his diaphragm
And stomp upon his spine,
The Freshy is in season and
The sport this year is fine.

COUNCIL MEETS

And Disposes Of A Lot Of Routine Business.

The council met Friday night with all the members present and most of the evening was spent in hearing petitions of various sort. But little of importance was done.

An ordinance was passed extending the bithulthic street from 11th to 12th street on South Main, at the request of property owners.

The street superintendent was directed to discontinue street sprinkling, a report showing that the city had expended $700 for oil and $800 for water, besides what was paid for by the citizens. Sprinkling hereafter will be done by contract at the expense of citizens.

It was also ordered that no hauling away of garbage by the city wagons will be done free in future.
Only the city street sweepings will be hauled off by the city. Citizens will be required to remove their own garbage. Permission was given to the Odd Fellows to give a Carnival next spring.

Robbers on Handcar.

Dallas, Tex., October 18.—The safe in the Citizens' Bank of Hutchins, ten miles south of Dallas, was dynamited early Thursday and robbed of about $1,000. D. E. Waggoner of Dallas controls the bank.
The robbers escaped on a hand car.

Chance Displaced.

Frank L. Chance will not manage the Chicago Cubs in 1913. Murphy says a new manager has been signed.

$100 Reward, $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

The November Woman's Home Companion.

Woodrow Wilson, Democratic candidate for the Presidency, contributes to the November Woman's Home Companion an interesting article which is really a message to women. In it he develops the idea that those with whom we entrust our government at Washington ought, as he expresses it, to "keep house" for the whole people. Our revenues, he says, should not be put at the disposal of a governing class or of any limited set of governing influences. As he goes along Mr.
Wilson illustrates his points with specific suggestions.

Mr. S. Seymour Thomas made the picture of Governor Wilson for the cover. It is a study he made for his own use in painting a portrait of the Governor which he has not yet finished. Only three people—the Governor, Mrs. Wilson, and the Governor's sister—had ever seen this study before the Companion acquired it. Mr.
Thomas said that Mrs. Wilson thought it the best portrait of the Governor which she had ever seen.

The November Companion contains many other entertaining special articles, among which are: "Women of the Campaign," "The Girl in the Small Town," "A Successful Stepmother," "A Patient's Account of Days in the Hospital," and "The Training of a Child."

Popular Mechanics Magazine For November.

Like the magic story book for which children are wont to long, each number of Popular Mechanics Magazine contains a complete new set of articles, all more marvelous than the last, but unlike the story book, every one authentic. In the November magazine there are 308 articles and 266 illustrations, the range of topics being limited only by the achievements and developments of the period. The recent Bennett aviation contest is discussed by A. F.
Zahn, who describes Vedrine's thrilling challenge to American airmen with unmistakable import. "America," says Zahn, is too magnanimous, too wealthy and populous, to decline, without deep humiliation, such an honorable challenge. . . .
And if we accept the challenge, we can hope to succeed only by strenuous, prolonged and systematic preparation. A winning monoplane is not designed in a day. Nor is the art of flying it learned in a day."

Not A Day In Bed

Gramling, S. C.—In a letter from Gramling, Mrs. Lula Walden says: "I was so weak before I began taking Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Since taking it, I do all the housework for my family of nine, and have not been in bed a day. Cardui is the greatest remedy for women, on earth." Weak women need Cardui. It is the ideal women's tonic, because it is especially adapted for women's needs. It relieves backache, headache, dragging feelings, and other female misery. Try Cardui. A few doses will show you what it can do for you. It may be just what you want.

As He Understood It

A Portobello (Scotland) schoolboy has produced the champion howler of the season. The passage for paraphrase was from Kingsley: "For men must work and women must weep, though storms be sudden and waters deep, and the harbor bar be moaning." "Men and women," said the youngster, "must keep on working though the inn at the harbor is groaning for its customers."

HIGH SOCIETY GIRL TO GO OUT "BARNSTORMING"

Miss Natalie Siddons Randolph, debutante of wealth, has determined upon a stage "career." And she will start the aforesaid career as a "barnstormer."

of this sort of girl have sought the stage as the easiest way to fame and fortune.

So be it with the others, but not Miss Natalie Siddons Randolph. As was intimated, she is not an ordinary girl.

As proof of this, here are some of the things she will have to give up when she begins "career" as a barnstormer:

The social prerogatives of a debutante of last season.

An income of $25,000 a year.

Her friends.

Her beautiful home.

Her maid and the personal services to which she has been accustomed all her life.

Her automobiles and horses.

And the thousand and one things the feminine mind craves—not overlooking the "creations" of a French chef.

What Miss Randolph gains for her sacrifice certainly has all the appearances of a mess of pottage, or in the language of the United States—a lemon. The greatest promise so far held out to her is that if she succeeds as a "barnstormer" she will be given a "prominent" part in one of the Broadway productions.

If she succeeds? Even if she does in a large way, will it recompense her for the tolls she must first must climb?

What she gives up as a debutante will be replaced by this:

Association with a company of "talent," probably of the most mediocre sort.

Work—and work of the hardest kind.

Long "jumps" at night, and often in an ill smelling day coach, at that.

Impossible hotels.

Still more impossible food.

Rebukes from stage managers who have long since forgotten the gentle manners of the ball room.

And what will probably be hardest of all—"cuts" and sneers, the latter not always veiled, either, from those who are constantly her companions on the stage, and for the most part off the "boards" as well.

Now, can any one doubt that Miss Randolph heard the "call of the stage?"

Miss Randolph is an exceptionally pretty girl—her friends insist that she was the "fairest bud of all the debutantes" of last season. She is the ward of Baron Henri Natalie, one of the few really wealthy nobles of France; her family name is one of the proudest either in Europe or America. With an income of $25,000 a year, and all the luxuries that such an income can command, she seemed to be one of the happiest young persons in the world. Suitors for her hand in marriages are said to have been numbered by the score.

But she was not happy. She longed for a "career."

DAUGHTER OF VIRGINIA SENATOR CHRISTENS SHIP

With all the ceremony with which Uncle Sam is accustomed to surround the official birth of his fighting ships, the collier Proteus, latest and most modern of the auxiliaries of the navy, slipped from the ways at Newport News, Va., the other day into the waters of Hampton Roads, sponsored by Miss Lucy Fay Martin, daughter of Senator Thomas S. Martin of Virginia.

The christening of the Proteus, the twenty-second collier in the navy, was marked by even more than the usual formality attendant upon the completion of vessels of this class because of Secretary Meyer's recently announced decision to perfect this branch of the sea service and the importance with which naval officers generally are beginning to surround the despatched supply ships of the fleet. Upon the colliers, unarmed and unarmored, depends the efficiency of the big gray fighting ships which get the credit for victories and, realizing this, the navy department is endeavoring to bring the coaling vessels to the highest possible state of perfection.

The vessel upon the bow of which Miss Martin broke the traditional bottle of champagne, is made of steel and is equipped with the finest reciprocating engines in addition to two masts for use in case of emergency. She is 522 feet in length, 42 in breadth, has a hold 36 feet 9 inches deep, a draft of 27 feet 9 inches and a displacement of 19,000 tons. She can carry 10,500 tons of coal in addition to 2,000 tons for her own use. Her contract price was $990,000.

"MUTT and JEFF"

"Mutt and Jeff," a real comedy with real music, the kind you like to hear and the sort you'll whistle on the way home—comes to Holland's Opera House tomorrow night, Oct. 23. Gus Hill sends the big two car show with 45 clever people, singers, dancers and comedians. A magnificent scenic production, including the steamship "Insurgent" in South American waters, will be seen, not forgetting "Mutt and Jeff" the inimitable laugh producers, who are constantly in evidence except when a breathing spell is absolutely necessary, then a catchy musical number is introduced to prevent convulsions. The reason for the extraordinary success of Gus Hill's unique comedy is evident to the audience before the play has been under way for five minutes. Don't miss "Mutt and Jeff."

FIGHT PLANT PEST

Move to Save Nursery Stock by Quarantine.

Secretary of Agriculture Authorized to Quarantine Any State, Territory, or District Known to Be Infected.

Washington.—By an act of congress, approved by the president on August 20, entitled "An act to regulate the importation of nursery stock and other plants and plant products," etc., the secretary of agriculture is authorized and directed to quarantine any state, or any portion thereof, when he shall determine the fact that a dangerous plant disease or insect infestation new or not therefore widely prevalent in the United States, exists in such state, territory or district. Before promulgating his determination that it is necessary to institute a quarantine, he shall give a public hearing, at which any interested party may appear and be heard either in person or by attorney.

The secretary of agriculture is further directed to prohibit the importation into the United States of any class of nursery stock, fruits, vegetables, roots, etc., whenever he shall determine that such prohibition is necessary to prevent the introduction into the United States of any tree, plant, or fruit disease, or insect infestation, new or not widely prevalent within the United States. Before issuing his proclamation to this effect he is directed, as in the case of quarantine against a state, to give a public hearing to any interested parties who may wish to appear in person or by attorney.

There is imminent danger of the introduction into the United States at the present time of two dangerous plant diseases and one insect known to cause great damage in other countries. One fungus disease, the white pine blister rust, injures four important species of pine in practically all European countries.

It is a fungus disease and would be a most undesirable importation into the United States, as it is liable to be imported nursery stock. It would cause enormous damage to coniferous forests.

Another fungus disease which is a menace to American agriculture is the potato disease known as potato wart, potato canker, black scab, etc., caused by a fungus which, in advanced stages of the disease, utilizes every particle of food in the tuber and reduces it to a brownish black soft mass of a very unpleasant putrid odor. The disease occurs in many parts of Europe and in several islands not far from the Atlantic coast of the United States.

The menacing insect pest is the Mediterranean fruit fly, an insect which is tolerably well described by its name, and which is now known to be established in the Hawaiian islands. Its introduction into the United States from the territory of Hawaii would be a calamity of the first importance to fruit growers. California, because of this insect, now quarantines against a long list of fruits and vegetables from Hawaii, including oranges, Chinese plums, prickly pears, Damson plums, peaches, figs, tomatoes, grapes, squashes, and a large number of less well-known fruits and vegetables. Other Pacific coast states, however, have no such quarantine, and the introduction of the insect through ports in those states is possible and perhaps imminent. It is also found in Queensland, New South Wales, and West Australia.

To prevent these undesirable immigrants from entering the United States, the secretary of agriculture proposes to exercise the power vested in him by the new law and declare a quarantine against the territory of Hawaii in the case of the Mediterranean fruit fly, and also to prohibit the importation from Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Russia, Germany, Austria, Switzerland and Italy of four species of pines and their horticultural forms liable to introduce the white blister rust, namely white pine, western white pine and stone or cembran pine.

The importation of potatoes that may bring the potato wart disease from Newfoundland and the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, and from Great Britain, including England, Scotland, Wales and Ireland, and from Germany and Australia-Hungary will also be prohibited.

In compliance with the law, however, he will before issuing his quarantine proclamations, give public hearings to persons interested who may appear in person or by attorney, or submit their views in writing. Announcement is hereby made that these hearings will be held as follows:

On the white pine blister rust, September 16, 1912.

On the Mediterranean fruit fly, September 18, 1912.

On the potato wart disease, September 20, 1912.

WHY HE QUIT CONGRESS.

Former Representative Eaton J. Bowers of Mississippi was in Washington the other day. Mr. Bowers quit congress voluntarily.

Here is one case of it:

Miss L. A. Hester, Fifteenth and Clay Sts., Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "The pain in my back caused by disordered kidneys was so severe some days that I often felt like lying down. If I would walk any distance or over-exert myself in any way, I was troubled most and if I caught cold it made me miserable. It the morning I felt stiff and sore and often found it difficult to dress. A kidney weakness bothered me. I doctored but found little relief. Finally Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I got a box. They removed the pains in my back and corrected the kidney difficulty."

REBUKE A MILD ONE

Millionaire Evidently Pleasant Man to Work For.

Probably Reasoned That Because Employee Had Lost His Temper It Was Not Wise to Follow His Example.

James A. Garland, whose widow recently surrendered a fortune to marry the man of her choice, had a big estate at the head of Prudence island in Narragansett bay. One day he decided to sell his herd of cows. Without notifying his superintendent, he authorized a countryman he chanced to encounter on the island to look them over and make an offer. The superintendent happened to be busy at the moment of the prospective purchaser's approach, and explained with some impatience that he could not spare the time just then to show the cows. The other argued, expostulated and commanded until at last the superintendent, losing his temper, suggested that both he and Mr. Garland could go to the devil.

"What's that?" demanded the countryman, hardly believing his ears. "You can both go to the devil," retorted the superintendent. "Now, is that plain?"

"I'm going right off and tell Mr. Garland what you said," declared the would-be buyer of cows, and, true to his word, he departed and found Mr. Garland aboard his yacht. He repeated faithfully the remark of Mr. Garland's superintendent.

"He said that, did he?" exclaimed the millionaire.

"Yes, sir, that was his very words." "Well, you just wait a minute, I'll write a note that I want you to take to him immediately."

He disappeared into the cabin, while the countryman waited around with an expectant smile. Presently Mr. Garland came out with the note. "You give him this right off—no mistake, now," said he.

"There won't be any mistake," said the farmer, and went on his way rejoicing. There was a grin of malicious triumph on his face as he delivered his message.

The superintendent smiled a little also as he read it. When he had absorbed its contents he turned to the man with the remark: "Well, I've finished that job I was on and can show you those cows now. Come along."

Mr. Garland's not read somewhat as follows:

"Dear Mr. Black—Mrs. Buffum and the children are coming down on the boat from Providence at 4:30, and, as the automobile is out of commission, I wish you would see that the carriage meets them at the dock. Sincerely,
"JAMES A. GARLAND."

Sound of Hymn Carried Far. Archdeacon Madden of Liverpool, speaking at the bishop of Hull's mission at Bridlington recently on the efficacy of prayer, said he was told a strange story by one of the officers of the Mauretania. One night the ship was speeding across the Atlantic when the man on the bridge said he heard the sound of singing on the waters. The officer was so amazed that he stopped the engines and called the captain. The singing in a woman's voice, of the words "Jesus, lover of my soul" was heard faintly over the moonlit waters, and though they were unable to see anything from the ship a boat was lowered and the sailors rowed in the direction of the voice. They found a woman with a little child in her arms tied to a raft. She had been singing the hymn in prayer, feeling that there was no hope of their being saved. The mother and child were taken on board.

Married at Gretna Green. The glories of Gretna Green were revived recently when an Englishman, Mr. James Bromley Challenor, and Miss Emma Woodward, an actress known professionally as Miss Marjorie Astor, were married at the famous Queen's inn according to ancient formula. The parties, on arrival from Glasgow, were met by a carriage and pair, and accompanied by practically the entire population of the village, were led before Mr. J. Dicason, who performed the ceremony. They formally took each other for husband and wife, and answered the questions put to them by Mr. Dicason. The bridegroom was doubtful whether the ceremony would be legal without a ring, and Mr. Dicason obligingly offered to use one, although he said it was not necessary. Mr. Challenor produced the ring, and Mr. Dicason solemnly placed it on the finger of the bride.

Book Exercises for Voice Culture. A student asks: Are books of vocalizes really useful in voice culture? That depends on how they are used. A student might learn all the exercises of any book without benefiting his voice. He would help his reading and gain facility in phrasing, undoubtedly, but unless he applied his knowledge of the use of the voice to them, he would not materially assist his vocal growth. Some people think that if they get a book and sing its exercises, they will cultivate the voice. It is a mistake. No amount of such singing will affect the result. The voice should become well set in good habits before any book of vocalizes is taken up. Then the student should apply his knowledge, and do it very critically and carefully to each and every phrase of the vocalizes.

MODERN ROBINHOOD

Highwayman Gained Notoriety in Pennsylvania.

Chivalrous Sort of Robber Who Had Good Qualities Enough to Keep His Memory Green in Region Where He Was Known.

In a recent issue of your paper there is a reference to Davis Lewis and his lookout, which is of great interest to me, as in my childhood Davis was second only to Robin Hood in our list of heroes. Mary H. West writes in the Pittsburgh Gazette-Times.

He was not a creature of the imagination, but a veritable forest ranger who waylaid and robbed travelers by day and night. His plan by night was an ingenious one. He had a window of the kind then in use of eight or ten small panes. Inside of this he placed a lighted candle, and when a belated traveler came by the window was placed where one seeing it from the road would think a house was in sight. As the traveler approached the window was moved back until he was far enough from the highway to serve the purpose of the brigand, when he would be assaulted and robbed.

Davis Lewis was never a murderer and in many ways resembled his great English prototype. He never robbed the very poor and allowed his rich victims to retain enough money to pay innkeepers or other expenses. Once he encountered a Quaker merchant whose ducaats jingled and dangled in a leather pouch, suspended from his belt. Davis demanded the coin, and as he was armed with a huge blunderbuss and the Quaker was without weapons the purse was obligingly thrown to the side of the road. But, alas for Davis! As he stooped to pick it up the well trained horse of the merchant kicked him into the underbrush and sped away, while the discomfited, limping highwayman picked up the wallet to find it full of nails, broken pieces of slate and other jingly things.

Once the sheriff of Bedford county (which at that time included Somerset, Cambria and Blair, as well), had sold out the household effects of a poor widow who was unable to pay her taxes. Davis heard of her sad plight, promptly visited the officer at his home, robbed him and restored the money to the widow in an anonymous manner.

At last Davis was caught through the treachery of an accomplice and lodged in the Bedford jail. He was allowed to exercise in the jail yard, where one day in broad daylight he scaled the high wall, dropped into an unfrequented street and walked out of town before he was missed. But he was recaptured and paid the penalty of his crimes, hanging at that time being the punishment.

Butchers Have Queer Names. A butcher who had some spare time last week made a study of the telephone directory for butchers whose names are out of the ordinary or fit the business. Sam Frankfurter has a shop at 219 East Seventh street and A. Weiner is at 1443 Avenue A. John Now is on Third avenue and Frank Then on Amsterdam avenue. If they formed a partnership, Now & Then would sound familiar. Wing Sang is in the poultry business and A. Fox is a game dealer. Louis Rich is on Third avenue and the John Richer is in the Bronx. Emil Half is on Amsterdam avenue. George Idler hustles in a market on Webster avenue. John Grab is taking things easy in his shop on Second avenue. Max Warm is on East Houston street. Max Lent of Norfolk street never keeps it. Joseph Hug of West Fifteenth street should be a favorite with the women. For the finish, how about Julius Goodby of Avenue A?—Butchers' Advocate.

Cromwell Bible. There was a Bible prepared at the instance of Thomas Cromwell, earl of Essex, in 1539, known as the Great Bible, a copy of which would have an undoubted value. One of his followers of Welsh descent, named Williams, took the name of his patron, and served him as special agent in suppressing the monasteries. A descendant of his, Oliver Cromwell, of historical memory, was born in 1597, and died in 1658. Our authorized version of the Bible appeared in 1611. There is nothing to give special value to an edition of this version appearing in Cromwell's time. Ruling by machinery is a comparatively late discovery, and in those days and for long after, the line dividing the two columns on a page was drawn by hand. Copies of Bibles of that age are by no means uncommon.

Made Vegetable Plot of Grave. In a churchyard in Dumbartonshire Scotland, a visitor's attention was attracted recently to a grave on which was growing a splendid crop of lettuces. Being scandalized at the use made of the sacred ground, he cleared the lettuces away. It is now stated that the grave-digger had received a handsome gratuity to keep a certain grave in order, sow a nice smelling border, and otherwise decorate it. Knowing, however, that the friends of the man whose remains were buried in the grave had removed from the district and were not likely to see it for a considerable time, the grave-digger thought he might as well make use of the "good" soil to rear vegetables and, therefore, he sowed the lettuce seed.
